Saving Soles International Distributed New Shoes from Rampage

(August 25, 2007)

NON-PROFIT PROVIDES WOMEN-IN-TRANSITION WITH BRAND NEW SHOES FROM RAMPAGE

Indiana, PA- Aug 24, 2008— Earlier this month, Saving Soles, International (SSI) received a shipment of brand new shoes from Rampage. SSI is a non-profit that assists women who are entering or reentering the workforce. The donated shoes will be included in their next shipment for distribution to Dress for Success Pittsburgh and The Career Wardrobe in Philadelphia.

Saving Soles International is pleased to partner with Rampage in providing women with attractive and professional-looking footwear. According to Malaika Turner, SSI CEO, "We're so excited about the new partnership with Rampage, and we will continue to champion the empowerment and encouragement of women through the shoes on their feet."

SSI provides slightly new to new professional shoes and life changing encouragement to lower-income women. By providing appropriate footwear, SSI contributes to the overall presentation of these ladies in the workplace while raising their level of self worth.

Their service is available at no charge and by referral only to lower-income women who have completed job readiness programs and are seeking employment. Saving Soles, International has partnered with Career Wardrobe and Dress for Success Pittsburgh to date. In addition, SSI has also distributed its shoes in Nairobi, Kenya through Workforce Development Global Alliance. Other non-profits have generated shoe drives for SSI, including Zeta Phi Beta Alumni Chapter - Delaware, Trinity Methodist Church - Indiana, PA, Women of the Vine in VA and Grand Beginning Children's Center, Indiana PA,

Based in Los Angeles since 1982, Rampage's online clothing outlet augments showrooms and offices in California and New York. Rampage is a recognized leading retailer of young women's apparel. Rampage also distributes its products throughout the United States and has licenses in Canada, Mexico, Central America, South America and Korea.
